VOL. CXXXIV— No. 135. ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA, THURSDAY, JUNE 6, 1918. PRICE ONE CENT

GERMAN ALIEN FEMALES

Work of Registering Same Will Begin on the 17th Instant—Rules and Regulations Sent Here.

Chief Goods, of the police force, has received from the office of the United States Marshal for the Eastern district of Virginia, copies of the rules and regulations governing the registration of German alien females, which is to begin June 17.

All natives, citizens, denizens or subjects of the German empire or of the imperial German government, being females of the age of fourteen and upwards, who are within the United States and not actually naturalized American citizens, are required to register as German alien females.

Persons required to register should understand that in so doing they are giving proof of their peaceful dispositions and of their intention to conform to the laws of the United States.

Any American woman who has married a German alien takes the nationality of her husband, and if he has not been fully naturalized, she must register, unless the husband is dead or an absolute divorce obtained.

A female, irrespective of the citizenship of her parents, born in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, is an American citizen, and is not required to register.

Unless the father of a German-born alien female obtained his final naturalization papers before she reached the age of twenty-one, she must register.

Delinquents are liable to summary arrest, restraint imprisonment and detention for the duration of the war.

All German alien females must register with the chief of police at police headquarters; those in the country districts with the postmaster. No charge is made for registration.

FIRES AT U-BOAT

Freighter From Italy Sights Periscope Amid Wreckage

An Atlantic Port, June 6.—An American armed freight steamship which arrived here yesterday from an Italian port fired a number of shots Monday afternoon at what was believed to be a German submarine in a location described as about 100 miles off Barnegat light, the officers of the vessel said.

"We have received wireless warnings to look out for enemy U-boats," the officer said, "and had changed our course from the one usually followed to bring us to port. Our gunners were on the alert with double lookouts posted. A mass of wreckage was seen and near it what appeared to be a periscope. We took no chances and our guns both fore and aft, discharged several shots each. If it was periscope whatever it was attached to undoubtedly was hit more than once.

"The using of the ship's armament so close to the port of destination was simply a continuation of a voyage of excitement lasting three weeks. The first day out from the Italian port submarine chasers which were convoying us sighted two submarines and got one of them with depth bombs. Near Gibraltar we had another scare and a submarine was chased away by the vigorous use of our guns.

"Again in mid-Atlantic we sighted a suspicious sailing vessel which caused a call to the guns and a spell of speedy zigzag sailing. As we neared the American coast we thought our worry was behind us but it wasn't."

SUNK OFF VA. CAPES

Daring Work of German Submarines. Attack Norwegian Steamer.

Washington, June 6.—The Norwegian steamer Eiasvold was shelled and sunk by a German submarine 40 miles off the Virginia Capes at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, it was announced by the Navy Department last night.

Cape May, N. J., June 6.—That one of the German U-boat pirates was caught this afternoon off the Overalls Lightship was the news brought to Schellengress Landing yesterday afternoon with the arrival of a scout patrol from the scene of the reported victorious battle

The report lacks official confirmation, and officials at the Cape May section base declared they knew nothing about it, and referred all inquiries to the headquarters of the Fourth Naval district in Philadelphia

Those who received the report direct from a crew of the scout boat which put into Schellengress Landing, however, attach little importance to the lack of official confirmation, which they regard as being an indication merely that the American Navy Department proposes, like the British to keep the Germans in the dark about the fate of their disappearing sea pirates.

FIGHTING THAT WINS

American Soldiers Giving a Good Account of Themselves on the Battlefields Across the Seas.

From the days of early childhood we have been enthused by reading or hearing read to us the story of David and Goliath of Cath. The latter, an overgrown bully carried a chip upon his shoulder, as does the kaiser today. He was a man of war, and his huge statue and military training made him an antagonist which an ordinary man feared to tackle. He posed in his great physique and armor. Goliath defied Israel, parading himself in front of the Hebrew camp and daring any one to come out and fight him. A ruddy shepherd boy finally came along who had the temerity to stand before the giant. King Saul placed his own armor upon the youth, but David did not find himself at home in this panoply, and asked that he be freed from such an incumbrance. He then went out and picked up five smooth stones, ammunition for his sling, and sent one into the forehead of the giant, fracturing his skull. The bully staggered and fell, and was beheaded by his youthful antagonist.

From that day to this many men of war have believed that fighting in shirt sleeves is, after all, the most effective. In the present fearful struggle great artillery conflicts have at times ended in bayonet or fist fighting, in which the fierce Huns have been worsted by the allies.

This is a pecular American method. It is being practiced today on the western battle front.

Germany has for over a half century prided herself in the fact that she has never been beaten. In all her wars during the past three score years that nation has emerged the gainer in her incursions into other nations. Four years ago it was impossible to make any Teuton believe that his country could be beaten, although the entire world were arrayed against it.

The people of the United States, peaceful and non-aggressive as they are, have the sober gratification of knowing that they never have been beaten or forced into a dishonorable peace. The history of our country proves this. The American soldier is playing his part now. Victory, sooner or later, will again perch upon our banners.

A cotemporary this morning in speaking of the American soldiers says it is inspiring to have American troops fighting on the Marne under Foch, it is more than inspiring to have them victorious, stopping the rush of the Hun. At every point where American troops have fought they have been effective. They have demonstrated their ability to defeat the Boche. They have not yet bungled a single job assigned to them. They have not even been compelled to give ground at any point; have not yet taken part in any retreat. They are demonstrating that man for man they are better fighting timber than the enemy. This war is going to be won by the kind of fighting that Americans have shown in France.

Alexandria City and Suburbs

Mrs. William Roberts is visiting relatives in Ocean City, Md.

The regular weekly prayer meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Anne Lee Memorial Home for the Aged.

The total number of young men registered by the Alexandria draft board yesterday was 187. The registry was completed yesterday, with the exception of possibly some names that may be received by mail.

"The Whip," the noted screen production which comes to the Grand Theater on Friday, is filled with interest-absorbing pictures. The train wreck alone cost $25,000 and is but one of many striking scenes.

The members of the Quantico Marine Band who have given the people of this city so much pleasure in the "Community Sings" that have been held under the auspices of the secondary division of the Sunday School Association in the various church parish halls, and under the direction of Mr. Gordon Reese, have expressed to the ladies in charge of these affairs their appreciation of the kindness of the people of Alexandria in entertaining them upon their visits to the city. On the occasion of their last visit they arrived in Alexandria on Monday last and were entertained at dinner that evening by different citizens, also at breakfast the next morning, after which they were taken by automobiles for a ride through Washington and vicinity, and also to the Episcopal Theological Seminary and Episcopal High School, near this city. Luncheon was procured in Washington and upon their return to this city in the evening a supper was served them at the Old Dominion Boat Club house by the young ladies' committee from the auxiliary to that club. Tuesday night a delightful reception was tendered them in the parish hall of Christ church, by ladies of the Parish Aid Society. The men have repeatedly remarked that they have been gratified by the expression of praise of their entertainments and wish to express their appreciation of the hospitality extended them by the people of this city. Twenty-seven members of the band were expected to be in this final sing Monday night, but only twenty-two were able to be present, and several of the persons who had arranged to entertain them had to be notified to that effect. The personnel of the organization is as follows: Drum major, Harry E. Vincent; Sergeant Charles H. Schumann, Corporals Raymond A. Trumenslager, Laurence Venniece, Lauren Miller, Ernest Parker, Leo Fielder, George H Matson, Edward Matthers, Douglas Johnston, and Privates Anthony Damrow, Edmund F. Mackowski, George R. A meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock, in the Young Peoples Building, when the annual election of officers will be in order.

About ten dollars' worth of canned goods were stolen from a wagon belonging to Lindsey & Co. last night. The wagon was in the alley on Union street, south of the store.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Columbia Steam Fire Engine Company held last night, considerable routine business was disposed of. The officers of this company have started a drive for young men to take the place of some of the older ones who have responded to the call of their country and it is expected that the roll of the company will soon be put on a normal basis. Seven new members were elected at last night's meeting.

The kindergarten board of managers met yesterday with the president, Mrs. M. W. O'Brien. The kindergartener's report was most interesting and it was regretted that all member of the association could not read it. The school with three teachers and a few of the mothers recently visited the Zoo and had a very pleasant and instructive day. The school closed May 29 and will reopen October 1. The officers of the past year were re-elected. A contribution of one dollar from Mrs. J. W. Monroe is gratefully acknowledged.

Dr. Albert B. Dinwiddie, the son of the late Dr. William Dinwiddie, a former pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, this city, was recently elected president of Tulane University, New Orleans, La. This item will be of particular interest to many here, where the Rev. Dr. Dinwiddie labored so long and was beloved. The following is taken from the Presbyterian of the South: "Dr. Albert B. Dinwiddie, an elder in the Prytania street church, has been elected president of Tulane University, the largest and one of the richest institutions in the South. Newcomb College, a famous college for girls, is a part of Tulane University, as is also the widely known Medical School. Last year the university enrolled about 300 students, and this year owing to its special war work, the number will be seven or eight thousand more. Dr. Dinwiddie has been identified with all the forward movements of the institution for the past ten years. He was for some years a professor in the university at Clarksville, Tenn., where he succeeded Professor Massie. He was married in 1897 to the eldest daughter of Dr. Summey, now of New Orleans. The home of the Dinwiddie's is Greenwood, Va."

A called meeting of the Board of Aldermen will be held at noon on Saturday next.

Miss Mary Ewald left today for Philadelphia where she will be employed by the Emergency Fleet Shipbuilding Corporation, which moved from Washington to Philadelphia last week.

A pretty wedding took place yesterday afternoon at St. Mary's church when Miss Marguerite Constance Ponnet, daughter of Mrs. C. Ponnet, of this city, became the bride of Marion Charles Thomas, of Independence, La. The bride wore a beautiful gown of pink georgette crepe and a picture hat to match, she carried a shower bouquet of pink snapdragons and sweet peas. The bride was attended by Mrs. J. L. Power, while Mr. Power was Mr. Thomas' best man. After the wedding trip through the South Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will reside in this city.

The Gazette is requested to announce that an invitation is herewith extended to all the ladies of the city who are friends of the soldiers and sailors, to attend the block dance which will be given on Washington street Saturday inght in honor of the men in uniform. The ladies connected with the canteen service, also the gentlemen of the Red Cross, will see that proper attention is paid to decorum and that good order is observed. The dance will take place on South Washington street between King and Prince streets.

The gas situation in Alexandria is becoming worse daily. The quantity and quality supplies by the City Gas Department is entirely inadequate and is not only causing very serious inconvenience to housewives who have to depend upon it for lighting and cooking purposes, but also to commercial consumers. For some time past it has caused a loss of at least $2.00 per day to the Gazette office, besides delaying the issue of the paper daily, and that is but one of many similar causes said to exist throughout the city. It seems probable that users of gas for commercial purposes will be compelled to resort to other means and do away with the city gas entirely.

SCANDAL ON HOUSE

Empty Liquor Bottles "Placed" in Office Building, Says Randall.

For a scant three minutes yesterday noon the House of Representatives listened to Representative Randall, California prohibitionist, as he characterized as a "plant" the attempt to lead the public to believe that the House Office Building was a dumping ground for whisky containers, after their contents had been drunk by members of Congress.

With an empty beer bottle of the vintage of 1917, four and a half per cent alcohol, Representative Randall convinced the House that this bottle was "planted" where it was found, along with the others. Usually when a lot of empty beer bottles lie around for a year or more they accumulate quite a little dust, Mr. Randall stated, but the bottles referred to, although labeled 1917, did not have any dust on them when found, showing clearly that they had been brought into the House Office building and "planted." Beer in these days may not contain more than two and three-quarters per cent alcohol, thus eliminating any chance that the bottles referred to by Mr. Randall could be recently emptied and thrown where they were found.

Summing up, Mr. Randall characterized the whole proceeding as "disgusting and disgraceful."

500,000 Negroes Overseas.

Emmett J. Scott's tribute to the colored soldiers in the United States army has been placed in the Congressional Record by Representative Walter Chandler, of New York. The tribute was included in a quotation by Representative Chandley of a survey made by John E. Bruce on the subject.

The record points out that at the present time 500,000 colored troops are fighting on the side of the allies in France. Mr. Scott says: "With the allied armies in Europe there are already associated negro soldiers from the United States and an increasingly large number of them will soon be on the firing line under the Stars and Stripes. The history of the American negro is a history of courage and valor. The negro's blood has crimsoned battlefields in every war fought by the United States since the Revolution."

Philadelphia, June 6.—For 10 hours in the night Miss Edith Donato Virola, an eighteen-year-old Porto Rican girl coming to this country to marry, floated on the cork-buoyed body of her drowned fiance before she was dragged to safety, after the steamship Carolina was torpedoed by a German submarine.

HOLDING THE GERMANS

Allied Forces Assume Initiative on the Marne Battle Front Last Night.

Paris, June 6.—Allied forces assumed the initiative on the Marne battlefront last night, it was indicated by the French official communique today.

The Germans, already driven back at two points on the western portion of the front, lost 150 prisoners.

London, June 6.—Attempts by the Germans to raid British trenches last night were all repulsed, the British war office announced today.

London, June 6.—The allies not only continue to hold the Germans at all points on the Marne battlefront, but Appear to be a assuming the intiative, last night's official statements indicate. For the first time since the new drive started, the German war office failed to claim any gains.

The French communique said that numerous attempts of the enemy to advance at different points were repulsed with serious losses.

THE AMERICAN SOLDIERS

Kill One Thousand Germans in Fight in Chateau Thierry.

With the French Armies on the Marne, June 6.—American machine gunners killed at least a thousand Germans in Chateau-Thierry, it is estimated by French military authorities. The Yankee gunners, in the battle for the city, fired tens of thousands of machine gun bullets into the place. The city's streets are filled with German bodies. In the repulse of the Germans by Franco-American forces at Jaulgonne, the enemy attacked three times before the bridge was finally blown up by an American detachment.

The Germans poured a heavy machine gun fire into the American ranks but the American rushed forward and destroyed hastily erected machine gun positions on the edge of the woods. Continuing their advance they engaged the Germans at close quarters and cleared them entirely from their positions, driving them back upon the ruined village.

In a sharp combat, marked by the fierceness of the allied machine gun fire, French and American troops, fighting side by side, almost wiped out small German forces which had reached the left bank of the Marne near Jaulgonne, east of Chateau Thierry. Most of the enemy survivors were rounded up in small groups and made prisoners.

London, June 5.—"Few communiques issued by the French command have contained a statement more vital to the ultimate issue of the battle than those references to the soldiers of America in action," writes the military correspondent of the Daily Express.

Commenting editorially on the situation the same newspaper says:

"The German may read their certain doom in the spirit and skill of the Americans in the fight at Veuilly. During the past week the transport of American troops across the Atlantic has been quicker than we dared to hope for. Better still, the quality of the officers and men has astounded the most competent military judges. Germany will find herself in the last great fight faced by troops equal to the best Europe has ever produced."

PROMISES VS. WORKS.

The world is full of would-be representatives—men overflowing with promises of what they will do should their friends in a thoughtless moment put them in places of responsibility. Several years ago a man was elected to Congress by a constituency composed in the main of people who supposed that Congress should only consider matters of interest to their small community. Like the tailors of Tooley street, they dreamed that they were the people of the land. A banquet was held in a village in honor of the new candidate. The latter had never seen Washington, but imagined that when he made his way into the Capitol of the country everybody would stand aside to make way for him. When he arose to speak at the banquet, most of his constituents yelled for several minutes. Placing his right hand under the left lappel of his coat (posture of Henry Clay), he began by saying: "I will tell them in Washington"—but his hearers became so demonstrative that he could proceed no further. At length a hayseed more enthusiastic than the others, managed to make these words audible to the crowd: 'You bet you will!"

Three months later the fiery representative reached Washington, and after taking his place in the House remained a cipher as he was at the outset. Later some wag sent a picture to his constituents which represented the man of many promises straying about the pillars of the Capitol looking for some one to coach him into a Congressman.

The above tells the sad story of many who take upon their shoulders the burden of representing constituencies.

The spirit of patriotism since the United States was compelled to draw the sword in the nation's defense has been pronounced in the Old Dominion, as it was in 1776, 1812, 1848, 1861 and 1898, so much so that politics have been sidetracked in the interests of our common country. Thre is no North, South, East or West, while political issues are left for another time. Ever the large number of democratic voters in the Ninth district determined to make no attempt to unhorse Mr. Slemp, the Republican, at this crisis, they having firm faith in his patriotism. The same spirit has been manifest in other districts, it being, very sensibly, determined that the present is no time for party fights.

Unfortunately it is not so in our own district. There is a triangular fight on. The present able representative, a man who has won his spurs, is antagonized by two other democrats, who are attempting to make the people believe they will bring forth more abundant fruits as Congressmen.

The present incumbent has but little time to canvass the district and demolish the houses of cards which have been erected against him, as Congress at this time is necessarily in perpetual session. His past work, however, should be a sufficient answer to all criticism.

We will refer to but on instance however, which should appeal not only to Alexandrians, the home of Hon. C. C. Carlin, but to residents of this entire section of the Eight Congressional district. Our representative has done what no other man ever dreamed of accomplishing. He has brought about a complete revolution in the commercial history of old Alexandria, the good results of which are extending over the entire district. Not only has remunerative employment been afforded natives of his own city, but people of the rural sections—Fairfax Prince William, Stafford, Spotsylvania and other contiguous counties—have participated in this great change. The rural residents, to which Mr. Carlin's antagonists are appealing, have come here by the hundreds, bringing their farm wagons with them, receiving pay they little dreamed of a few months ago.

The Gazette from the first insisted on letting well enough alone, but notwithstanding our suggestions or the example set by democrats in other districts in the state, two members of the democratic organization in this district have determined to make an attempt to swap horses at a time when experienced and well-seasoned men should be retained. It is to be hoped that the convervative voters of the district will see that Mr. Carlin is retained in Congress by a substantial majority.

THE NEW LICENSE LAW.

Dr. H. K. Stockwell,

of the staff of the Monroe General Hospital, Monroe, Washington says:

"For the past four years I have prescribed this (Holstein) milk exclusively, both in my private practice as well as in the Monroe General Hospital and the Washington State Reformatory, with which institutions I am connected as physician.

"It is not only better digested by infants than any other milk whatever, but what to me seems an important fact often overlooked, it is more palatable and better tolerated when taken over long periods of time than any other milk I have ever used.

"With tubercular patients especially, whose appetites are unusually fickle, this is an extremely important point, and I am able to induce these cases to adhere to a milk diet for a longer time than when I was using milk with a higher percentage of butterfat.

"I have, at this time, three patients who are taking, with relish, from one to three quarts of Holstein milk daily, who had previously refused milk from a dairy supplied largely from cows of the Island (Jersey and Guernsey) breeds."

Featherstone milk tastes good.

If you don't like the taste of the milk you are now getting, try Featherstone Milk.

It's from good Strong Holstein cows.

Better Cooking by Electricity

Women have long known that electric cooking is cleaner, that it banishes all the dust and ashes of coal and wood and soot and fumes of gas. They have known that it makes the kitchen cooler; the air purer; that is the most convenient way to cook. Now they have the word of the women who stand for the most scientific cooking methods known, that electric cooking produces better results than any other means.

Let us demonstrate the various sizes of ranges and refer you to the satisfied electric range users.

KEEP THE BAGS FULL!

By E. W. KEMBLE.

ONE MAN'S REASON WHY.

I have a son two years old. I want him to be a sportsman. I want him to be able to win like a gentleman, to lose like a man. I want him to grow up in a world where a victory gained by foul tactics is incomprehensible. I want him to feel always that his word is sacred; that no advantage to himself or others justifies the violation of his oath. I want him to reverence the memory of his mother, to look upon all women with clean eyes. I want him to grant, as a matter of fact, the demands of weakness upon strength. I want him to look upon human beings as individuals, to accept cheerfully another's right to a belief contrary to his own. I want him to gain his own beliefs through searching his own soul, not by blindly accepting the dicta of others. I want him to believe in a generous God, a God Who is a Gentleman, not a demoniac God who plays favorites.

One judges a man by his professed beliefs, by his acknowledged deeds. One judges a race in the same manner. By their professed beliefs, by their acknowledged deeds, I judge the Germans. And I firmly believe that a world ruled by them would be a world in which it would be impossible for my son to grow up to be the man I want him to be.

(Contributed by Mr. KEMBLE and Mr. ROCHE to the NATIONAL SECURITY LEAGUE'S Campaign of Patriotism Through Education.)

The Huns Abroad and The Pacifists at Home

(Contributed by CASPAR WHITNEY, now at the front for the "N. Y. Tribune," to the National Security League's campaign of Patriotism Through Education.)

Although Germany, while yet a "friend," intrigued against our peace and order, urged Japan and Mexico to make war on us, and murdered our men, women and children, there are those among us professing loyalty and intelligence who practically say this is not our war and appear unable to realize that the defeat of the boche is as vital to us Americans as was the victory of 1776.

Then we declared for independence; now we fight to maintain it.

It is not merely that we fight in answer to indignity and material injury done us through attack on our rights as a nation and on the lives of our citizens—not merely to uphold our place among self-respecting peoples—that we are at war; but literally for our self preservation as a republic.

To muzzle this war-mad wild beast we have taken up arms—that the world shall be safe for the freemen of the world.

The world cannot rest in peace while Germany holds the destiny of other peoples in her blood-dripping hands. The world cannot live in peace with a people that commits, or permits her sponsors to commit in her name, the foul acts of treachery, of vandalism, of bestiality, of murder, that have marked the trail of the German army over Europe.

One doctrine or the other must prevail; either the German brutal right of might or the civilized might of right—one or the other—must succumb in this conflict to the death. And should it be the German doctrine—then shall we fall under the domination of a people that have robbed and raped and looted and burned and killed, that the "kultur" of a military oligarchy shall live.

Prussianism is devoid of honor, truth, justice or mercy, as its own acts have proved, and its defeat is a necessary first step for the peace of the world and the freedom of civilization.

For the safety of American institutions it must be destroyed; for the safety of American freedom, yours and mine and of all of us.

We are in the midst of war, our war, the war of every freeman, of every man and woman who does not indorse cowardly murderous assault upon the weak and innocent, brutal injustice, and atrocious acts; and if we would preserve the Stars and Stripes and all they stand for we must fight the Huns abroad and the pacifists at home with all our strength.

Caspar Whitney

WHAT THE VICTORY OR DEFEAT OF GERMANY MEANS TO EVERY AMERICAN

(Contributed by ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE, author and globe-trotter, to the National Security League's campaign of Patriotism Through Education.)

Germany's victory would mean all that the alarmists have said—the setback of humanity, democracy, civilization, rights of man, etc. But, to America, it would mean infinitely more.

It would mean our first national defeat; and, thus, would smash our perfect record for victories—a record as old as our nation—a record that means more than the right to brag. Even as a beaten army never wholly regains its old form—even as a beaten ring champion sinks at once into desuetude—so our nation (its traditions of victory gone) would suffer far worse deterioration than the mere fact of defeat could inflict.

It would mean that the man who has risked all in his country's struggle for Right could never again feel his former calm certainty that Right must triumph. Thus, the moral tone of the individual, as well as of the nation, would inevitably be lowered.

This country has never embarked in a war of conquest. From 1775 to the present we have fought for Liberty or for Union or for the Oppressed—ever for some sterling principle of right. From childhood we have been taught to believe that the high unselfishness of our war aims has given us the victory. We have seen the decay or destruction of men and nations that have battled for dominion—as Germany is now battling. Should we fail in this, our mightiest war for the Right, the average man must lose forever the simple Faith which has led our dear country from nothingness to its present estate. For that Faith, more than for anything else, our sacrifice is a hundredfold justified.

Albert Payson Terhune

Your Country Calls!

Awake, Americans!
Make this war your war.
Every man must prove
Right is Might.
It means your liberty, if not your life.
Combat German propaganda here.
Attack everything un-American!

What Happens When You Lend Your Money to the Government?

You should buy only the things you can not do without. The money you usually spend for things you do not need should be saved. Then lend your savings to your country. The Government can use that money to get the goods and services needed to supply the Army and Navy with the food, clothing, and ammunition they must have in order to win the war.
